

ANTARCTICA DIARY

Notes of a Semi-circumnavigation

An interesting mix of notes, photos and videos of this dreamlike voyage makes this Multivision show most convincing. During the 12'000 km long expedition Annemarie Koelliker und Roberto Saibene enjoyed unique landscapes: gigantic granite peaks, icebergs of every shape, size and colour, calving glaciers as well as monumental, endless ice shelves. Despite severe frost they often set foot on Antarctic ground, either to visit historical huts of the explorers or to admire numerous colonies of penguins. They also were extremely lucky to observe very closely the seldomly seen emperor penguins. Apart from fabulous pictures the show offers a lot of valuable information about the White Continent.
